

National University of Sciences and Technology
School of Art, Design and Architecture

ARCH-434 Construction Management

Credit hours	3(2-1)	Semester:	Spring
Instructor:		Office:
		Extension:
Counseling Hours:
Teaching Assistant:		Office:
Email:		Extension:
Website:
Pre-requisites	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To have an insight into how architects need to deal with project managers and construction team members.
Course Description	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> From the Architect’s perspective, to learn to implement (and sometimes) enforce the fine architectural details. From the Architect’s perspective, to determine which parameters and areas of construction management are critical both economically and feasibly. To learn the practical use of specific management skills, systems and supervision. To have an insight into modern day construction techniques including the use of technologically advanced machinery, heavy construction machinery, economic viability of mechanical equipment and management of heavy-duty construction machinery.

