

National University of Sciences and Technology
School of Art, Design and Architecture
Arch-805 – Urban Design Theory & Practice

Credit Hours:	3	Semester:	Fall
Instructor:
Email:
Website:
Counseling Hours:
Research Assistant:		Office:
Email:		Extension:
Website:
Pre-requisites:	None
Course Description:	An active curriculum with a simultaneous engagement in urban theory and urban design is strategized to be divided through the lecture and studio. A parallel correlation is also made to be part of the course with the architectural design projects. The course aims to provide architecture professionals with perspective and practical skills to comprehend, envision and program the space and form of the contemporary city for livable, efficient, responsive and just urban environments. The course is built upon the multi-disciplinary foundations of architectural design that formulate a niche into the realm of urbanism, cities, development, infrastructural systems and environmental transformation. The course is shaped to develop a rhythm through these topical transitions using varying scales in research, strategy and design.		