

Course Title : Seminars in Current Advancements in Psychology

Course Code : PSY-902

Credit Hours : 3

Pre requisite: None

Course Description:

1. This course aims at offering seminars on current issues in psychology focus on the contemporary research and practices in the field of psychology.

Course Objectives:

2. The objective is to;
- a. Broaden student's perspective in areas of psychological research and practice
 - b. To enhance the spirit of scientific inquiry and develop an indigenous understanding of universal concepts.
 - c. To raise pertinent question, identify gaps in the conceptualization of an issue and forward new perspective.

Learning Outcomes:

3. After completing the course the students will;
- a. Be able to evaluate current research developments in the field of psychological science.
 - b. Develop a perspective and understanding of contemporary issues and debates in field of psychology
 - c. Gain in-depth understanding on relevance and application of these concepts in local socio-cultural context.

4. Course Content:

- a. Psychology and health
- b. Interdisciplinary research
- c. Psychology for diverse groups
- d. Technology and Psychological science
- e. Psychology and developing world

Suggested Readings

5. The readings will be selected on the bases of their relevance to the specific topics under each area.